ABSTRACT

This paper attempts to discuss the 1997 Asian Crisis in terms of ASEAN's future as a regional association, especially as to whether it will unravel or be able to cope with the various denouncements of the crisis. Various assessments have been made and are being made as to ASEAN's future, but its prospects in terms of a discord or a strengthening of its resolve continue to be a subject that cannot be concluded in this paper at this juncture. However, it is likely that ASEAN will continue as a regional association not on a footing similar to its 1997 existence.
CONTENTS

DECLARATION ii
ACKNOWLEDGEMENT iii
ABSTRACT iv
CONTENTS v
ABBREVIATIONS vi
LIST OF TABLES vii

CHAPTER ONE INTRODUCTION 1

1.1 Problem Statement 1
1.2 Background 2
1.3 Objective 4
1.4 Methodology 4
1.5 Significance 5
1.6 Synopsis of Chapter 5

CHAPTER TWO THE ASIAN CRISIS 6

2.1 The Currency Crisis 9
2.2 The Financial Crisis 12
   2.2.1 Failure of Asian Capitalism 12
   2.2.2 Failure of Market Capitalism 17
2.3 The Aftermath 19

CHAPTER THREE ASEAN PRIOR TO THE CRISIS 22

3.1 Institutional Framework 22
3.2 The Emphasis 25
3.3 Challenges 30

CHAPTER FOUR IMPACT OF THE CRISIS 34

4.1 Political Implication 36
4.2 Economic and Security Implications 39
4.3 Social Implications 43
4.4 Strategic Implications 44
CHAPTER FIVE   PROSPECTS AND FUTURE CHALLENGES  47

5.1 Common East Asian Currency and East-Asian Monetary Fund  47
5.2 China's involvement  47
5.3 Interpretations of Preventive Diplomacy in ARF  48
5.4 Security  49
5.5 Lack of Leadership  50
5.6 Expansion of members  52

CONCLUSION  54

BIBLIOGRAPHY